WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1887

THE Rev. Dr. Wythe, of Oak- land, deserves the thanks of his clerical brethren for his bold and original essay, designed to prove that the brain is not the seat of the mind. Dr. Wythe has often been humiliated by observing the sneers of the worldly at the absence of brain in himself and colleagues. He has pondered the matter deeply. If there is no brain, according to the generally accepted theory, there can be no mind, and the conclusion that he and his friends were mentally deficient was obvious to even a clerical intelligence. "But," says the San Francisco News Letter, "after long wrestlings in prayer Dr.
Wythe saw a brilliant flash of light.
Why could not mind exist without brain? If it could, then nobody could infer from the cranial vacuum of the average Methodist clergyman a corresponding intellectual vacuity. The reverend investigator worked his new lode with enthusiastic energy, and presented the results last Monday to the Methodist Preachers' Association. He held that the mind was an independent organization, which might operate at any part of the body, and which presided at any given time wherever its action might be required. Thus, at dinner, the essayist's mind would be in his stomach, where, by the way, the Chinese believe it to be all the time, while in the pulpit Dr. Wythe would think with his lungs. It is a captivating theory, and when it is perfected and toned down will probably be found to contain the germ of a great truth. At present it proves too much. If the power displayed by our esteemed clerical friends at dinner and in the pulpit be really mind, what becomes of it at other times?"

THE boodle system knows no geographical limitations, as is proved by the testimony in the case of Mr. Wilson, the French President's son-in-law. Wilson had a whack at everything. According to the stories told in Paris, if a man wanted a good big contract and was not the lowest bidder he saw Wilson and got the contract. But the price of admission for seeing Wilson was not low. One contractor is said to have paid $140,000, another $40,000, and one man is said to have paid him $14,000 for the Legion of Honor. President Grevy had a nephew who was in the same line of business. They were alive lot, and made hay while the sun shone. But it will be a cool day presently.

A STRUGGLE has commenced between the Inter-State Commission and the Standard Oil Company, about the strongest combination in America, over complaints of George Rice, of Marietta, Ohio, against a number of railroads, alleging discrimination in favor of the Standard Oil Company, violation of the long and short haul provision and against all unreasonable and unjust rates. The result is anxiously looked for, but bets can be safely made in favor of the corporation if the past is to be repeated.

A VESTIBULE train from Boston will arrive in San Francisco on the 15th of next month. Its arrival is awaited with much interest, and it will, no doubt, be looked upon as one of the railroad curiosities of the day. However, the traveling public is destined to a better acquaintance with this class of train, as it is being adopted by many railroads in the East, the Pullman Company having orders for all the cars of this kind that they can manufacture.

INTEREST in the Teachers' Institute increases with each session, and the attendance grows larger. It is certainly gratifying to all interested in education to see so many able educators and so many teachers from all parts of the State present.

Gathering Statistics.
O. A. Bernard, an expert of the United States Bureau of Labor, Department of the Interior, has been at work in the County Clerk's office for several days examining papers and collecting statistics in reference to marriages and divorces, which, in due time, will be published by the Department. It is proposed to collect all facts obtainable upon this subject for the past 20 years, giving date of marriage, date of divorce, grounds for the action, and which of the two parties is held. These facts will be obtained from every State in the Union, and if the whole corps of workers are as thorough in their work as Mr. Bernard, the work, when completed, will afford a fund of useful information, and will enable Congress to pass a uniform law upon the subject of divorces.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Herr Most's Trial in New York City Progressing.

PARNELLITES EXCITED.

A Negro Protesting Innocence is Lynched.

CHARGES DECLARED FALSE.

Serious Conflict Between Planters and Negroes.

[PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

Herr Most's Trial Progressing.
New York, Nov. 23.—The work of getting a jury to try John Most was continued to-day, and shortly after noon to-day 12 men had been secured.
Assistant District Attorney Nicoll opened the case for the people. The language the prosecution will endeavor to prove Most as having used is this:
"Every person concerned in the tragedy, the hanging of the Chicago Anarchists, from the beginning to the end, is marked for destruction." The revolution is at hand. A voice here cried, "Why not begin to-night?"
"Again I say, arm yourselves for the revolution. One arm, the bomb, is stronger than the galling gun or other weapons. It kills 50 at once."

Was He Guilty?
FREDERICK, Md., Nov. 23.—John H. Bigus, (colored,) charged with a felonious assault on Miss Yeokle, an aged white woman, on Friday last, was taken from the jail at 1:30 o'clock this morning and hanged to a tree about a quarter of a mile from the prison. Bigus declared his innocence, and said Joe Hall, another colored man, was the perpetrator of the assault. The Sheriff denied admission to the man who had been lynched, and down the door and took the victim from his cell. When the place of execution was reached Bigus asked to be permitted to pray, which was granted him. After praying he was drawn up to the limb of a tree. Three pistol shots were fired into his body.

Parnellites Excited.
DUBLIN, Nov. 23.—The Express says: Frank Hugh O'Donnell, ex-Vice President of the Home Rule Confederation, has caused a subpoena to be issued for Parnell and Thomas Power O'Connor as witnesses in his suit against the London Times for £50,000 damage for libel in charging him with being connected with the Phoenix Park murders. The Express says O'Donnell has notified O'Connor to produce the minute books and ledgers of the Home Rule Confederation for February, and also the National League, that are in his possession—particularly those covering the time spent by Parnell in Kilmainham jail. The Parnellites are furious. Parnell, three months ago, resolved to cross the sea in November, in order to avoid being placed in the witness box.

Grevy and the French Government.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—It is reported that M. Rebot, a member of the Chamber of Deputies for the Department of Pas de Calais, will form a new Cabinet, among the members of which will be Goblet and Dives.
The Journal des Debats advocates the awaiting of the result of President Grevy's efforts to form a Cabinet, but says it is impossible not to see the gravity presented by the prolonged uncertainty which offers the chance for the creation of a dictatorship or an outbreak of disorder.

A Conflict With Planters and Negroes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A New Orleans special says that the striking sugar hands at Thibedien, Louisiana, fired on the white pickets guarding the place. The white men returned the fire and a brisk battle ensued, in which 25 negroes are said to have been killed and two white men wounded.
Additional troops will probably be sent to the scene at once.

Bonds of Railroad Receivers Removed.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—The application for the removal of the Reading Railroad from the hands of the receiver, was made in the United States Court this morning. It was granted and the property will be turned over to the company on the 23rd of January.
The order includes the Jersey Central and the Buffalo, New York and Philadelphia Companies.

Suit for Money Withheld.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Georgia Fargo, daughter of the late W. G.
Fargo, the millionaire expressman, has brought suit against the executor of the estate to compel him to pay her $40,000, which she alleges they have wrongfully withheld.

False Charges.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The Grand Jury this morning submitted a final report to Judge Coffey, and among other things declare that the charges recently made by Judge Terry in regard to an alleged attempt to bribe Judge Sullivan during the Sharon trial, were false and without foundation.

Indian Territory Affairs.

St. Louis, Nov. 23.—The situation at Tahlequah is becoming uneasy.
The Downings refuse to meet in the Council Chamber with the Nationals.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

—Bar silver, 95%.
—The Mexican Congress has before it a compulsory educational bill. Under it compulsion of vigilance will be established to see that children attend school regularly.
—Railroad travel north and west of Chicago has been greatly impeded by the blizzard of Saturday.
—President Grevy's most intimate political friends advise him to resign, but he has not as yet concluded to do so.
—It is stated that Robert Garret has recently shown symptoms of the mind disease that affected him on his return from Europe. He is now in the Northwest.
—The Union Pacific will now check baggage through to all points East, and Eastern roads will check baggage over the Union Pacific to all points West.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Bergstein has returned from the Bay.

Harry Merritt left this morning for Winnemucca.

George Mosher and wife returned from California yesterday.

Internal Revenue Collector
Dunne, of Virginia City, is in town.

Robert F. Morrow returned from the Comstock last night, and left on this morning's express train for the Bay.

Dr. Dawson has returned from Elko, where he was for several days as a medical expert in the Lewis murder case.

Colonel W. J. Sutherland, the Comstock job printer, left this morning for the Bay, where his wife is under medical treatment.

Mrs. S. D. Barlow, wife of the General Superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, was the guest yesterday of Miss Etta Smith.
She left on this morning's train for San Francisco.

More Railroad Surveyors Heard

From.
Says the Elko Independent of Monday: The Manitoba Railroad, of Minnesota has a gang of surveyors in the country immediately north of Wells, examining routes, passes etc. They have built a railroad from St. Paul to Helena, Montana, this year and expect before the year is closed to reach Butte City, to which point they have already reached. They are apparently aiming for the Pacific Coast via Wood River, Idaho.

The Colorado Man Again.

San Francisco News Letter: "A Colorado sport beat the Reno gamblers by the use of a pack of cards which contained nine aces. That fellow was a hog. No California gambler would presume to work the great American game with anything in excess of five aces. Six kings were introduced in one of the big games of long ago, but the gentlemanly introducer paid for his fondness for royalty with his life."

A Good Idea.

Previous to this morning's session of the Institute the teachers met to try and effect a permanent organization of the Nevada State Teachers' Association. The Committee on Constitution reported, and the report was accepted. Enrollment is taking place, and all are signing. Following are the officers: President, W. C. Dovey; Vice President, the 14 County Superintendents of Nevada; Secretary, Robert Lewers; Executive Committee, H. H. Howe, three years; Lizzie Beck, two years; W.
Miller, one year. The object is the elevation of all interested in education. Persons wishing to join are requested to send their names to the Secretary, and at the same time inclose an annual fee of $1.

A Highwayman Gets Left.

Last Monday night the stage from Candelaria to Columbus, Esmeralda county, was stopped by a long highwayman who carried for Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure box, but it was not aboard, owing to the shotgun messenger who was to accompany the stage oversteering himself at Candelaria.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Interest Increases With Each Session—Proceeding of the Meetings Yesterday Afternoon, Last Evening and This Morning.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON SESSION. The afternoon session was called to order at 1:30 o'clock by Vice President Groves. Miss Kittle Grippen opened the exercises with an admirably executed piece of instrumental music.

Prof. N. F. Smith followed with "Composition in Our Schools." He began by giving some good examples of "English as She is Spoke." The growth of a tooth begins in the mouth and extends to the stomach. "Congress is composed of civilized, half-civilized and barbarians." "Parallel lines are those which run in the same direction or until they meet." "A circle is made of straight lines with a hole in the middle." "The heart is a small pear-shaped bone in the body." "Turkey is a limited monkey." Altogether the subject was presented in earnest, thoughtful language, which showed the gentleman had carefully noted results. The following members took part in the discussion which followed: J. E. Bray, F. B. Ginn, W. C. Dorey, N. A. Hummel and L. D. Brown.

In the discussion the remarks were good and provoked some comment. The interest and success of composition work at Wadsworth, it was claimed, was due to the influence of the splendid home library of that place.

N. A. Hummel paid a tribute to the organizers and supporters of that institution, and in the minds of teachers they are held in high esteem. Miss Mertie Sabin favored the meeting with a piece of instrumental music. We should have more music.

Next was "Fourth Primary Work Exemplified," by Miss Nora Quinlan. The young lady is a good, clear speaker and her professed remarks were ideas of wisdom clothed in beautiful, forcible language. What she had to say, and she said it well, could be heard in all parts of the room. This is no easy task, in the association room, owing to a part partition. The first thought expressed by the speaker referred to object lessons, and in support of this said: "A child may be able to count 10 who does not know 10. The pupil must deal with objects, not with abstractions. For objects I use counters, blocks of wood, beans, leaves, shells, etc., and use them for two or three months. The perceptive faculties are the predominant ones up to the age of 10 or 12 years." Abstract reasonings are out of place up to this age. Ask pupils not only what they do, but why they do it. The institute instructors should follow this precept. The closing remarks were true and expressed some first-class thoughts. Very practical applications followed under the questions of Professors Howe and Bray.

Professor J. E. Bray took the floor at 3:15 to discourse on "The Essentials of Arithmetic in Grammar School Grades." He ventured the assertion that high school pupils do not know how to add, basing this declaration upon the fact of those pupils lacking requisite rapidity. Ratio, proportion and progression should not be taught in grammar grades, as they are but seldom used by business in practical work.

Professor O'Connor asked, "Of what use is cube root to a carpenter? In the ninth school year pupils should have enough knowledge of arithmetic to last him through life."

Professor Bray paid a deserved compliment to the work in arithmetic in the Carson schools. Professor Bray is a thorough educator, and was kept on the floor for an hour answering questions.

After a well-rendered solo by Miss Ada Finlayson, adjourned to meet for evening session.

EVENING SESSION.

At 7:30 the evening session convened in the Baptist Church. The room was full of the lovers of education, all anxious to proceed to work again.

Mr. C. M. Fassett, the handsome and popular young druggist, rendered a banjo solo.

The event of the evening, Prof. Miller on "Natural Science," was looked forward to in anticipation of a treat, and the following interesting exercise was indeed a great treat. Owing to progression the time is not far distant when every man will be a scientist. Science demands truth and exactness. The speaker averred that if a person should read thoughtfully and carefully, one volume of some noted scientist's works, he, the reader, would become a lover of science.

The experiments in which the Professor indulged were watched with interest, and he successfully obtained the principal gases of air and water, nitrogen, oxygen, carbonic acid gas and hydrogen. The sparks from the sparking watch-spring seem like falling diamonds.

The Professor has a grudge against Superintendent Dorey, because he tried to knock that chairman's eye out with a soda can. Had the chairman been in his accustomed place he would have lost an ear or two, but he was behind the organ in a safe place. The oxygen was lost and with it the voice of a schoolmarm, who shrieked on purpose. The apparatus used was very inexpensive and will undoubtedly incite some of our teachers to try and construct some. Clapping of hands was the thanks of the audience.

Dr. J. J. Moore rendered a vocal solo in his usual good style, and Miss Mabel Stenaway, a pretty song with guitar accompaniment.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

After order was called this morning at 9 o'clock the following answered the roll call: Atwood, Mrs. H. M.; Aah, Nellie M.; Averill, Mark; Babcock, Miss E. C.; Babcock, Miss; Bardenwerper, Kate; Bray, J. E.; Brown, L. D.; Blackwell, Carrie A.; Brophy, Ceta; Clapp, Miss H. K.; Cutting, Emily E.; Oheueweh, Miss L.; Crowley, Julia; Davis, Miss M. E.; Doten, Mrs. M. S.; Dovey, W. C.; Durenberger, Lizzie; Eaton, Marion; Farmer, Frances A.; French, Valie E.; Paul, Thirza; Freeman, Mrs. S. A.; Gault, Miss Jennie; Geiger, Miss Ella; Groves, C. H.; Grove, Mrs. L. L.; Grippen, Frank L.; Guesey, L.; Harlow, Kate L.; Harlow, Miss S. A.; Henry, Mary; Hinch, Jennie; Howe, H. H.; Holman, W. A.; Hummel, N. A.; Knowlton, Mrs. E. J.; Killeen, Mollie; Kyle, May; Lackey, Ada F.; Leete, Mary; Ling, S. S.; Linnehan, Hannah F.; Lewis, Robt.; Lockport, Mary; Lucas, Rev. Wm.; Lealie, Minnie; Long, Maggie; Longaough, Emily; Marx, Ida M.; Martin, Annie H.; Mateer, J. A.; McIntosh, M.; McIntyre, Josie L.; Miller, Walter M.; Michelson, Mame; Michelson, Julia; McCoy, Celia; Miller, Anna; Musgrove, Mary; Northrop, Flora; Nevins, Kate; Neall, Kate; Niles, Lizzie; O'Connor, Joseph; Park, Addie; Peck, Lizzie; Quinlan, Nora; Ring, Orvis; Schneider, Lillie L.; Sharpe, Nettie; Siakron, Juliette; Smith, N. F.; Smith, J. L.; Stewart, Miss U. J.; Steiner, Mary; Stachhouse, May; Starling, Ella; Stingerland, Eva; Taylor, O. L.; Timmons, Winnie; Unruh, Lizzie; Wasson, Clara G.; Wasson, Libby G.; Wagner, Bertha; White, Edith L.; Welton, Virginia; Young, J. G.

An instrumental solo by Miss Mabel Linn was well received.

The quotations were better than yesterday, and teachers seem to vie with each other in uttering wit and wisdom and force in brevity of expression.

The work of the Institute is fast verging to all that is practical. Practical work and demonstration is what the young teachers want, and is what they can use after they leave the Institute for the school room; hence we consider this Institute an ideal and an advance in the right direction.

Prof. J. L. Smith, of Genoa, took the floor to give vent to his ideas and practice in Writing and Business Forms. To be a good correspondent is to be a good conversationalist, which we know is a rarity. After you can get a child to talk you can work on his mind, and not till then. Natural expression of thought is to be desired. The speaker laid great stress on the fact that children's feelings should not be hurt by too severe criticism. The subject passed without discussion.

The instrumental duet by the Misses Kittle and Susie Elliot was appreciated so much that the applause was very hearty.

Professor O'Connor came next with a good address on "Language in the Public Schools." The beautiful language attributed to the Indian is the work of men of fame in the literary world. The day exercises of a school are practices in language lessons. It is better to teach a pupil the structure and use of a stone than to teach him that it is a common noun, third person, neuter gender, etc. Give a high school pupil the best grammar you can find, and teach it from the beginning to the end. If we teach pupils to express pure thoughts in pure language, we make them wiser.

Professor J. E. Bray, the well and favorably known Principal of the Virginia schools, talked on "Physics." He experimented to show that a vacuum is a non-conductor of sound; the pressure of air by the use of rubber, and the forcing of mercury through oak; throwing the primary colors into white; shooting General Doves with corks and glass tubes thrown by hydrogen. The experiments were interesting and the information instructive.

Professor Joseph O'Connor held the strict attention of his listeners for 45 minutes. He presented a whole lot of things, and used some of the examples as models. Book examples are not the examples of practical life. Apply theory to practice.

Professor O'Connor is a very able educator, and his work can be applied. The illustrative examples were good and could be readily understood in all applications. The child for whom you do everything is in exactly the same position of the child you wish to teach to walk, yet always carry. Naming words is not reading. Natural tone is correct reading. Every expression uttered in a clear tone teaches to speak distinctly and with enough force to be heard in all parts of the room. Place the reader on the desk occasionally, and see if you can understand his reading. Follow the ideas in the first reading. Do not let the yourself to a book, read a paper or use some supplementary work. The first thing a child needs is language; one-half of the time should be spent in reading. If you teach history or anything teach ideas and not words.

RECESS.

A Twenty Years' Experience.

770 Broadway, N. Y., March 17, 1886. I have been using Alcock's Porous Plasters for 20 years, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Briefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the front of the back, Alcock's Porous Plasters fill the body with nervous energy and thus cure fatigue, brain exhaustion, debility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They never irritate the skin or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore throat, croupy coughs, colds, pain in side, back or chest, indigestion and bowel complaints.

C. D. FREDRICKS.

An Able Protector.

If there is a more able protector against the incursions of disease than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, we have yet to learn of it. Against the periodic attacks of fever and ague it affords a sure defense, it renews waning vitality, and counteracts the infirmities of age; it prevents dyspepsia from becoming chronic, and eventually annihilates it. It rouses the liver and kidneys when dormant, and insures a regular habit of the body. To the nervous it is of inestimable benefit, imparting steadiness and vigor into an unsteady physique. The term, "delicate health," is usually another name for debility. While the bitters is procurable, the weak need never despair of physical reinforcement. Persons whose avocations are sedentary and laborious, or involves exposure to unfavorable climate influences, will also find the bitters an able protector.
